Original Poetry.

For the Republican.

I AM BRAVING THE WORLD ALONE.

BY BECKIE HARRIS.

Far out upon the billows,
My little bark I guide;
No gentle hand to soothe my woes,
Or stay the rising tide.
And, the gloomy future,
Wrings from my orphan heart a groan,
To realize this fact,
I am braving the world alone.

No mother's loving hand to guide,
Her orphan's path through life;
So I must gird on my armour,
And battle with every strife.
The waves may rave and toss,
And, still higher may rise the foam,
My ship I'll steer through all,
I am braving the world alone.

Oh, do not think, that your glazed words,
Efface the heart's sad woes,
The orphan's heart is often stung,
By friends, who are but foes.
Each friend who passes by,
Maliciously hurls a stone—
But—I'm only an orphan;
I am braving the world, alone.

And, did I dare aspire to fame,
That fame, should then be this:
My name should stand unscorched and pure,
And virtue be my bliss;
I'd brave earth's mighty foes,
Rejoice to die without a moan;
To that I would aspire,
But, I'm braving the world alone.

For the Republican.

MY MOTHER.

BY J. GILL. LOUDEN.

When far away from those I love,
Mid pain, or guilded pleasure,
A split from the world above,
Hath been my fondest treasure.
Though years have laid within my heart,
Affections for another,
It cannot rob the small still voice,
That bids me love my mother.

First in life, she proved to be,
With fond embraces near me,
To minister in every want,
And, by her presence, cheer me.
A stranger's voice may fondly speak—
And love me as none other;
But naught, on earth, can ever break,
The love I bear my mother.

Her smiles are woven in my heart,
More bright than stars at even;
They bid my footsteps ne'er depart,
From that bright road to heaven.
Then, when I leave this sinful world,
To dwell within another;
Oh! may it be beyond the sky,
Where dwells my angel mother.

History of the 49th Pennsylvania.

Late Captain of Company 'C.'

CHAPTER XV.

Mine Run—Brandy Station—Winter Quarters—Review by Russian Naval Officers—Re-enlistment of Veterans—Grant in Command—Drafted Men—Drilling and Preparing—March to Wilderness—First day's Fighting—Three days Fight—Death of Gen. Sedgwick.

[The crowded state of our columns has prevented our publishing this history for the past two weeks.]

On the 26th of November, the day of National Thanksgiving, we marched from Brandy station, from camps we had just got fairly into shape for winter quarters, to the Rapidan river, and across it a mile or two above Germania Ford. As our regiment was in rear of the army, we got on very slowly; and after our tedious and tiresome march, reached camp on the South bank of the Rapidan at midnight. The weather is cold, and our bivouac uncomfortable; but we are in for a winter campaign, apparently, and there is no use grumbling.

We moved very slowly next day, thro' a woods, hearing considerable firing from the 3d corps, in our front. In the afternoon we were hurried forward to the support of the 3d corps, who had got into an engagement with the enemy, and as we were moving at double-quick up the road to their aid, the enemy commenced shelling the column, and exploded a shell in our regiment, wounding Capt. Quigley and a couple of his men, but doing no further damage.

We got into line, and pressed on, but the rebels showed no earnest desire to fight, and gave way gradually, and apparently moved off, only keeping up a fitful artillery fire through the woods that was very noisy, but did us no serious harm. We took the places of the 84th Pa. Vol's on the front line, and remained there till one o'clock in the morning, when we moved off with our corps to the Eastward where, at daylight, we joined the 2nd corps, on the Orang C. H. road. We moved with them, by woods and fields, in the rain, at a slow rate, all day, until we found ourselves in front of the enemy, who were posted on the hills of Mine run, with the deep valley of the stream dividing the contesting armies.

We formed our lines in full view of the enemy, from whom we received an occasional shot. The weather suddenly changed from raining to snowing, and on the night of Nov. 28th, became exceedingly cold, freezing the ground solid in a few hours. On the 29th we expected to be moved against the enemy, but we lay quiet by our fires all day.

Some of our forces were in motion, in various directions, but we had nothing to do but make ourselves comfortable, which, under the circumstances, we did with very ill success. But little firing was going on; and, besides the discomforts of our winter bivouac, and the looking across Mine run with glasses, there was nothing to interest anybody, except that we expected to charge up the big hills we saw lined with rebels, in a day more, at furthest. We were cold and uncomfortable enough almost to desire a little fight, just for a change of scene and circumstance.

On the morning of Nov. 30th, we were to begin the attack at 10 a. m., in the support of a battery on our left, which was, by opening upon the enemy's works, to give the signal for a general attack by our whole line.

The ground was frozen solid, and the air bitterly cold, as we moved out to our assigned position. The battery was already there, and ready for the time appointed. The troops were in line, and their knapsacks piled up to prepare for the charge.

Just as we came up to the artillery, the first gun was fired, and we went into our position at double quick, under fire of the enemy's artillery, which had opened promptly in reply. The shot and shell danced about on the frozen ground in a lively style, and the batteries of the rebs, one after another, directing their fire upon our battery, compelled it to withdraw, with the loss of several men, horses and wheels.

We lost no men killed, or dangerously wounded; but we had a lively and exciting little episode, all to ourselves; and during that time, the weather was not a bit cold at our position.

The order to attack had been countermanded, and our artillery had failed to receive the order before the hour set for opening, and so commenced the fight.—All the other troops lay quiet, knowing that the attack was not to be made, and the enemy devoted their artillery exclusively to our entertainment.

The shelling soon ceased, however; and, getting into the woods, where it was more comfortable, we discussed the situation, and our hard-tack, coffee and pork in comfort, in the warmth and smoke of new-built camp fires.

The battle of Mine run was not fought; and war, nevertheless, ended. This night was bitterly cold, and our pickets, near the enemy, not daring to light fires, or even show themselves, suffered terribly.

On next day, Dec. 1st, we returned to the first position we had occupied on this line. Here we remained quietly all day. Gen's Meade and Sedgwick, seeming to be discussing some question of interest on the hill, where was had the best view of the enemy's line.

In the evening the troops began to move off towards the Rapidan, and by midnight, nearly all the army was gone. We were among the last to leave, and did not get to and across the river until ab't daylight the next morning. After we got over, at Germania Ford, we cooked breakfast at a steam saw mill near that place, and then moved into a camp about a mile further up, to wait till the troops ahead should get out of our way, and into their camps, and the trains gather up. Here we remained all night, and next day, Dec. 3d. We marched back to our Brandy Station camp, and by the evening, we were re-established in our quarters that were now known to be our quarters for the winter.

The campaigns of 1863 were ended.—It had been a year of great events; and, to us, of much hard work and suffering; but, as yet, the good fortune of the old 49th seemed to remain, and we had, in comparison with our comrades of the 6th Maine, 5th Wisconsin and 119th Pa., lost few men. Our ranks, however, were thinned, and we had few to lose. We got about one hundred drafted men just before our march to Mine run, and took them with us, unarmed, on the march. They seemed to think it a pretty severe initiation in the service, but found afterwards that it was not peculiarly rough after all.

We now began to perfect our winter camp, and to make it as clean and comfortable as we could. We went back to the saw mill with trains of wagons, and seized the lumber for our use. An empty brick house fell a victim to our need of material to build chimneys to our tents, and the woods melted away before us.

Our men secured a large number of light, sharp axes, made for them by Wm. Mann, Jr., & Co., near Lewistown, Pa., which were easily carried along on picket or march, and were a great convenience, and became almost a necessity. The Messers Mann having taken especial care in the manufacture of these axes for the soldiers, they were a very superior article, and so were all the more appreciated by those whose comfort they so greatly increased.

The time spent at Brandy Station was marked by very few incidents. On the 15th Dec., we were reviewed in presence of the Russian Naval officers, and made a very creditable display for the corps. The Russian sailors made a bad one on horseback, and one fell off his horse in the midst of the ceremony; but sailors always come to grief when they try that sort of navigation.

Some deserters were shot in our and other corps about this time, and courts were everywhere disposing of the cases of those who had been violating military law, during this season of leisure. We lived well, and had no duty beyond ordinary guard and picket duty.

Dec. 22nd we began the re-enlistment of veteran volunteers, and about two hundred of our regiment entered upon their new term of three years, and went home on a furlough of thirty days.

The year 1863 was drawing to its close, and had been a year of great events. To celebrate its demise, the officers of the 49th, upon an invitation of Capt. Quigley, who had secured a most excellent Pennsylvania supper, assembled at his quarters to pass the last hours of the old year socially. We had a few guests from other commands, some who came bringing us recruits from the draft, and numbered, in all, some twenty-two officers.

We disposed of the turkies, oysters, coffee, cakes, and the very abundant supply of good things, first. We laid the supper on the Captain's bed, and found room somehow, in his shanty for all.—As soon as the remains of the dispatched banquet were carried out, cigars and other refreshments were provided, and the social party organized. The Col. in the—camp-stool. No Secretary was appointed, as it was voted that no record of the proceedings should be kept. It was resolved that no one should leave until after midnight, and then all should leave who could; also, that each gentleman present should aid in the entertainment of the company in one of three ways—the penalty for refusal being a contribution to the commissary department—either sing a song, tell a story, or make a speech. We are happy to be able to say that all came up nobly to the work, and that several distinguished themselves in their several parts. There was some singing that we think was never equalled before or since, and we rather imagine, will remain unparalleled for all time.

The stories were good, the speeches eloquent, the tobacco smoke thick, and old 1863 got down to her last ten minutes in an apparently wonderfully brief space of time. Then, with a last toast to the grand old year, and a farewell to it given in the usually eloquent style of the writer, which, however, did not seem to make much difference with either the departure of the old year, or the snow storm outside, but which met the unanimous approval of the officers inside, and of a crowd of the men outside, who thus betrayed the fact of their presence there listening to their superior officers celebrating the dying of the year.

The old year went out, and the party dropped off, one by one, and sought their quarters, with an order just received to be prepared to march at daylight. It was not a comforting thought, for the snow was falling fast, but the order did not trouble most of the officers much. The Colonel thought it would be countermanded—the Adjutant thought so, too, and several of the officers didn't care whether it was or not. It was countermanded at daylight, and we had a peaceful and merry New-Year.

Of the twenty-four officers who so gaily bid farewell to 1863, six were killed before the new year was five months old, and only one of the whole number, except the Surgeons, had failed to receive a wound, more or less severe, in battle with the enemy.

The chances and changes of 1864 bore very heavily on the gay company of that farewell banquet to the grand old year in which the scale of advantages turned in our favor, and in which Liberty was "proclaimed throughout the land, to all the inhabitants thereof."

During the stay of our regiment at camp Brandy Station, we received a large number of recruits from the drafted men and substitutes. They were formed into five companies, and officers were commissioned from the four old companies, and the non-commissioned officers of the supernumeraries who had been ordered back to the regiment. The supernumerary commissioned officers had been mustered out of service at an earlier period, except one, who secured a reinstatement after his muster-out. Our regiment now numbered nine companies; and, with the return of our veterans, and recovered sick and wounded, and recruits, put our force up to 730 muskets, in line. We lived well; getting fresh oysters at one dollar a gallon, at the station, and many of the luxuries of the Washington market at very reasonable prices.

We had constant duty in drills, guard and picket; but the time sped on without finding much out of the ordinary routine to mark it. We made one reconnoissence beyond Culpepper, across the Robinson river, but found nothing in it but a tolerably rough march, and disagreeable snow storm.

We had some excitement in the way of a religious revival and temperance movement; but, even in that, we found a new exemplification of the transitory nature of things earthly, as our next campaign spoiled nearly all of it. Gen. Grant had joined the Army of the Potomac, and was commanding all the land forces, by assignment of the President.

Mr. Lincoln had visited the army, and put an end, for the time, to the shooting of deserters.

Balls were given in camp, and officers brought their wives to share their winter quarters, and made our society almost civilized, at least. Horse races, oyster suppers and cockfights furnished, along with euchre, chess and cribbage, means for the waste of our surplus time.

So we moved on, getting our men ready for the next move, and enjoying our army life, that had grown to seem almost the natural way of living, more so than one who never tried it would be apt to think possible. We raised a storm-flag on Feb'y 22nd, and had a speech by the writer of this record, and a good time, generally, in the camp.

Thus using our time, we kept along, until the 18th of April, when Gen. Grant reviewed us for the first time. Continuing our drills, and working along, we found nothing of interest until the third day of May, when we bid farewell to our old winter-quarters, and got ready to move across the Rapidan, and into the Wilderness.

The Harmonious Democracy.

The Democratic city and county Conventions have met in Philadelphia, and nominated tickets for the different offices. The Conventions were ruled by the roughs, and the nominations made in the midst of riot and profanity, some of the candidates being only fit for the penitentiary. Many of the respectable portion of the party repudiate the ticket, and quite a number of the better class of the Democratic journals are outspoken in their opposition to the nominees. The Sunday Mercury, one of the ablest journals in that party, thus bewaileth the action of its friends:

"THE CONVENTION AND THEIR ACTS.

"The Democratic Convention held in this city last week were eminently discreditable in all respects. From bodies composed of the worst possible material, nothing but the worst possible action could be reasonably expected. With an exception or two, a weaker ticket than that presented, could hardly have been made, while the disorder, violence, dishonesty and blackguardism which marked the proceedings of every one of the nominating bodies, but especially those of the city and county Conventions, were, perhaps, never exceeded, if equaled, on any similar occasion. This is particularly remarkable, inasmuch as it was never before more desirable that the Conventions of the party should be rightly constituted and their conduct harmonious, respectable and intelligent. The Democratic papers, too, all earnestly exhort to a choice of proper delegates, regularity of procedure in the performance of their trust, and the best practicable nominations. The result shows how utterly vain were all such considerations and appeals. As usual, the important business of selecting candidates for the party was committed to persons having neither the sense nor the virtue requisite for that duty. It would be both an insult and a lie to say that they represented the mass of the Democracy in this city. They really represented nobody but themselves, and the wretches, "roughs" and rowdies who elected them as delegates.

"We will, and do say, that the Democratic Conventions and their conduct were altogether the very opposite of what the people had wished and demanded that they should be, and, we are, moreover, sincere and independent enough to declare that no such persistent and audacious violation of every principle of party policy and public decency shall any longer receive our toleration. The fact of a great, and once glorious party, with great principles at stake, being not only ruled and ruined by devils in human shape, is enough to make every respectable citizen sick, even of the name of Democracy.

TALKING AND DRINKING.—Mr. Canning was once invited to a grand banquet by the Fishmonger's Company at a time of great public excitement. When he arrived, it was intimated that it would be desirable that he should give his sentiments on the then state of public affairs, and that a very convenient time to do it would be in acknowledging the health of her Majesty's Ministers. Mr. Canning listened to the communication gravely and politely, but made no answer, whatever, to it.

When he arose to reply to the toast, everybody was on the tip-toe of expectation, waiting breathlessly for some great ministerial revelation.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Canning, "we are invited here to meet the fishmongers. Now, the fishmongers have dealings with the members of a very large community, from whose habits I think they might be learning something. The fish is one of the most uncommunicative animals in creation; it says nothing, and it drinks a great deal. Let us, then, upon the present occasion, as we are, to some extent, brought into their company, imitate their habits, let us not waste our time in talking, but drink a good deal!"

And so, as the reporter says, he resumed his seat amidst roars of laughter.

CONCERNING COURTSHIP.—Josh Billings says:

There iz wimmin who are az easy to court az lint.

'Luv at fust sight' iz like eatin honey. It duz seem az tho you never could get enuff uv it.

This kind ov luv iz apt to make blunders, and iz az hard to back out ov az a well.

But thare aint no sich thing az pure mathamatiks in courting. If it iz awl nature, it iz too innocent for earth; and if it iz awl science, it iz too much like a job.

Perhaps the best way tew court iz to begin without much ov enny plan whare you are going tew fetch up, and see how you and she likes it, and then let the thing kind ov worry along kareless, like throwin stones into a mill-pond.

You will find one thing tew be strictly true, the more advice you try to follow, the less amount of good courtin you will do.

On some railroads it is customary to have a lock on the stove to prevent the passengers from meddling with the fire. A conductor being asked why they locked the stove, replied, that "it was to prevent the fire from going out."

One candidate for Recorder.

Each Borough and Township is entitled to a representation of three delegates- except the township's of Boggs, Harris and Potter, each of which are entitled to four delegates.

WM. P. WILSON,
Chair'n Union Repub'n Co. Com.

To the Republicans of Centre County.

On next Saturday you will assemble at your several places for holding elections. Your voices in the selection of candidates for our various county offices, will then be heard. If all give this very important matter their attentian, and use their best judgment in selecting, and energy in supporting, our nominees, we are sure of a complete and lasting victory in Centre county. As to the State, all we need is to get our voters all to the polls. Our victory over PACKER will be easy if only our people do not neglect the duty of voting.

But in this county, the contest will be very close. We have gained rapidly on Democracy since 1863 at every fall vote.

It would be well for all Republicans to be at our delegate elections on Saturday. I suggest that, as under our new law—known as the Registry Law—all the Borough and Township officers must be elected in October, that full tickets be made in each and every township by the Republicans, to be voted for on the 2nd Tuesday of October next.

My official connection with the Republican party will close with the Assembling of the Convention on the 11th of August. This last year has seen a great contest, and the grandest success ever known in the annals of the Republican party in the county, the State and the Nation.

All that is necessary to a complete and final victory of true Republicanism, is that we all give a reasonable share of our time, attention, and energy to the aid of our cause. Let every Republican in Centre county attend at, and attend to the delegate meetings next Saturday.

IN former times we heard a good deal about the "bloated bondholders," but with Twenty Million Packer for their candidate it is presumed that the Democracy will not say much on that subject. Either PACKER is an immense holder of Gavernment bonds, or belonging to the SEYMOUR class, who never took a bond because by so doing they would support the Government, has his money well invested in something else that pays better. Whatever the fact is, the party is clearly entitled to all the good it will do them. Until further advised, we shall treat the Democratic candidate as the most bloated of the entire tribe of bloated bondholders within the limits of Pennsylvania, and intent on getting his coin for both principal and interest.

ASA PACKER showed his patriotism, when the war broke out, by going to Europe, and remaining several years. The whole male portion of Governor Geary's family, able to be in the army, was there fighting for the preservation of the Union. As to the Governor, every body knows his enviable record.

IN Pennsylvania, the colored men admitted to the ballot by the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment, will be one eightieth of the whole number of voters. The Philadelphia Press asks if one colored man will then outweigh seventy-nine white men as the Democratic papers continue to shriek.

THE Katalysine Springs Hotel is now nearly completed. It has at present, sixty guests. Among these is Mrs. A. L. Phelps, the distinguished authoress and teacher, and Principal of the Patapsco Female Seminary.

Meek's Travels Again.

He makes a third Trip into Pennsvalley—Forced to seek for Proof that he did not Lie on his Friends—The Ring Conspiring against the Country—The Hornets all on the wing.

Such a buzz among the hornets of the "Court House Nest," has never been witnessed, as does at present exist in our romantic town. There is the black hornet, the white hornet, the waspish hornet, the sly hornet, the yellow hornet, the striped hornet, the Sugar hornet, the ring-tailed hornet, the bald faced hornet, the Gray hornet, and the MEEK, or king hornet—all on the wing, with stings as sharp as needles and full of poison, ready to make war and inflict the severest punishment upon their country cousins who may have had the hardihood, or boldness, or ambition, to attempt to meddle with them in their snug and cozy nest. For six or eight years they have ruled with undisputed sway. They have their Court House nest, and the new jail nest, so completely fixed—and so extremely comfortable—and the MEEK, or king hornet, has his eyes so intently fixed upon the money bags of the corruption ring in Harrisburg, that he, with all the others, have sworn, if hornets can swear, that not a single country hornet shall invade their nest without suffering the most excruciating torment for his audacity. The whole swarm, or hive, appear to be united with their KING, against the singing, or me-fa-sol-la hornet of Pennsvalley. It has been determined here, as in England, that "the King can do no wrong," and if his country-subjects will dare to dispute his authority they must be subdued; the music knocked out of them; their stings extracted, and finally crush'd into the meyer. Now there are several kinds of mire that these hornets destest; but the language of the King, at present, is, "save me from JAKE MEYER," The whole swarm have heard his petiti n, or ra'h'r mer mandate, and have determined to save him. It will never do, they say, to let their King be Meyer'd. In return for their obedience and timely aid, the King, no doubt, has promised to divide the rich pickings of the BURNS nest in his Harrisburg dominions. It has been solemnly determined, in the Convention of hornets assembled, that only those who stand faithfully by the King shall be rewarded. So, with renewed energy, they have all gone to work to repair and strengthen the nest. Some are WEAVERS; some are at work on the HALL'S; some are watching the WOLFE'S; some are for painting the jail part of the nest BROWN; some say the Treasury Department needs DOBBIN-S; some stand idly by and put in their LIP (by the) TON, and the whole swarm have determined to KEEP-HART and secure their HOUSTER-a MAN if they are compelled to run night and day over the country to secure certificates. It is really amusing to see them buzz and stir, FORSTER they do, not being fighing hornets, they despise loyal soldiers and make the WOOD-RING in declaring their detestation of all such. The Felix felicitous, or rather would-be happy free-trade hornets declare their detestation of the blacks, and swear by jabers that they will have the Prothonotary part of the nest, or KELL-HER.

But seriously, there is a nice fight going on between the pets of the Court House Ring and the people—the honest masses of the Democratic party. In our two last numbers we have shown how eager the Ring is for office, and how the MEEK or KING hornet was willing to sell out or betray all the smaller lights, so as to make his calling and election sure. The low, personal attack made upon us by MEEK, for no other reason than the publication of his travels, and choice sayings, in Pennsvalley, is sufficient proof of the truth of all we published. Falsehood never injures or riles a man; but truth, when it is told, cuts to the very bone. It was the truth of what we published, that hurt PETER. He knew what he had said to Judge HOSTERMAN. He remembered who he had maligned: and he, at once, upon seeing our paper, concluded that there must have been

"A chi'l among 'em taken notes,"
An' so there was, and 'faith' we printed 'em."

On last Wednesday, as soon as PETER saw our paper, he harnessed up his blooded nag, and started, for the third time, to Pennsvalley. On Friday, in his Paul-De-Cox paper, he published what he alleged to be a certificate from Judge HOSTERMAN, proving that the report, as published by us, was untrue. But he makes the Judge prove too much. How can the Judge testify to what MEEK said to SPANGLER? How can he, in that certificate, say that PETER did not, while conversing with Mr. SPANGLER, call Col LOVE—honorable man as he is—a "Loop fossil?" &c. Does MEEK not care for the good will of Col. LOVE?—It would seem not; else, why would he pass Mr. SPANGLER on his way to Judge HOSTERMANS, and again when he returned, and not procure the certificate of Mr. SPANGLER to prove that he had not villified Col. LOVE? Simply because he knew he dare not put SPANGLER on the witness stand. Why did he not continue his third pilgrimage to Millheim, and procure certificates from the men with whom he there conversed, to prove the falsity of that portion of our report? He does no such thing. PETER is too smart for this; but he makes Judge HOSTERMAN say, in speaking of the report, "I have simply to say that it is false, and untrue, in every particular." Again, we ask, does Judge HOSTERMAN know what PETER said to SPANGLER, or what he said to the SMITHS, ALEXANDERS and MUSSERS, in Millheim?—Judge HOSTERMAN'S certificate, therefore, proves too much to be true. Why did not PETER take us along, and give us a chance to cross-examine the Judge? This is what every honest and fair-minded man will say PETER sho'd have done. But this would not suit his purpose, as we will show.

That we thought Judge HOSTERMAN an honorable and upright man, is true; and we said so. Have we been mistaken? If so, we are not the first that have been mistaken in forming opinions of men; particularly politicians.—Our candid opinion is, that PETER betrayed and cheated Judge HOSTERMAN. It is well known that the certificate was written by PETER, and not by the Judge. Indeed, it is well known, that MEEK prepared two papers. It may be that the Judge signed one of them; but we cannot believe that it was the one MEEK published. Would the Judge sign a certificate denying what MEEK said to SPANGLER? Would he declare a conversation false and untrue that he did not hear? Yet this is precisely what MEEK makes him do. We feel confident the Judge did not sign it, because he had before declared the facts, as published by us, "substantially true," and the Judge, although a Universalist in his religious belief, and thinks there is no hell, is not the man to go back on his word.

Even in the certificate that MEEK says he signed, the Judge does not deny that he had a conversation with MEEK concerning the very matter charged by us in our report, but objects to the manner in which we charged it, and we think he may have signed such a paper, but never the one MEEK published last week, with HOSTERMAN'S signature. No. The truth is, MEEK has imposed upon Judge HOSTERMAN, and made him contradict himself, for he makes him say, "there were no such charges, as reported by the REPUBLICAN, made against any one."

We do not like to lose our good opinion of the Judge; but will he give us, or the public, in his own way, and in his own language, the conversation he had with MEEK concerning the candidates now announced, and named in our report, without consulting PETER about it? If he does, he will confirm the truth of all we have published. We will give the Judge this one chance, before calling our witnesses to the stand to impeach what he is made to say by the certificate, written and published by PETER, the king of the hornets.

The Price Per Capita Fixed--A Chairman Appointed at Last.

There has been, since the meeting of the Democratic Convention, quite a contest going on among the swarms of the party in relation to the Democratic State Central Committee. It was decided that ruin and disaster would follow if Coffee pot WALLACE was re-appointed. His appointment would never do. A new man must be selected. The fight waxed warm, and bitter; but at last WM A. GALBRAITH, of Erie, whose best recommendation for the position, was that he had been "a virulent copperhead during the war," was appointed, and it was alleged by some Democratic journals that his appointment was "so many nails in PACKER'S coffin." Mr. GALBRAITH, no doubt, viewed the matter in the same light, as he has since declined the honor—absolutely refused to accept the position. In this he has shown to the world that he has a little sense left.

His resignation, however, re-opened the old contest, and after a bitter fight, SAM RANDALL and BILLY MCMULLIN were again thrown overboard, and a Mr. MUTCHELER, of Easton—a man unknown to fame—was selected as the victim for martyrdom.

The chairman having been selected; the first business of the Democratic State Central Committee will be to fix up a "schedule of prices" for services in the PACKER campaign.

The Village Record recommends the following:

"A cheer for Packer, three drinks; an offer to bet on Paeker's election, $2 50; a discussian in his interest, $50; hunting up a new voter, $7, getting out a coffee colored naturalization paper, $10; denunciation of the Register Law, $1 25; an argument to show that Packer commanded a corps in the Union army, $100; a good article on his liberality, $40." To this the Harrisburg Telegraph adds; Wearing a white "stove pipe" hat, 25c.; publishing crack editorials twice, 10c.; telling who William Mutcheler is, and what kind of work his selection means, $500 12½; all below the $500 going for lead pencils, to be used only in this particular work. There is nothing like having things systematized to make work effective, and business men work so much better when they know exactly what they may expect. Think of the enthusiasm which would be produced among the penniless politicians of the party, when they know exactly how muck was to be paid for each display."

When it is known that PACKER was nominated simply on account of his $20,000,000, and has paid into the hands of the Democratic leaders already $200,000 to be used in the campaign, we think the Democracy of Centre county will be very foolish to deposit their votes for PACKER, until they first secure the money to which they are entitled per capita.

The regular pro rata division of $200,000 among all the Democrats of the State would be, we think, without making a very close calculation, about seventy-five cents a head. We suggest, therefore, to members of the Democratic party, to make sure of their seventy five cents before casting their votes for PACKER. If they do not secure the money, the Court House Ring will be sure to seize it.

Democratic Aid to Rebels.

We have frequently charged the Democratic leaders with having been in full fellowship with the rebels during the Rebellion. The record of VALLANDIGHAM, Judge WOODWARD, HEISTER CLYMER, W. A. WALLACE, ASA PACKER and others, is too clear in this respect to need proof. Their whole course during the war proved them to be in open sympathy with the rebel slaveholders. Autocrats, themselves, and believing that "Capital should own labor," and that it would be better if the laboring men were deprived of the right of the elective franchise, it would have been almost impossible for them to be found aiding the Government and her noble defenders—the "Boys in Blue." Opposed to everything like true Democracy; opposed to a liberal Government, in which all men were declared to be equal, and treated as equals, it is not strange, we say, that they should array themselves against the Government, and throw the weight of their money, influence and sympathies in favor of the men who thought as they thought, and believed as they believed—JEFF. DAVIS and his co-workers in the rebellion.

To this day the masses of the Democratic party have not been able to account for the conduct of their leaders who assembled in Convention in Chicago in 1864—nominated Gen. MCCLELLAND as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, upon a platform which declared the "war a failure" and its results nothing but "slaughter and disgrace." This, we say the masses of the Democratic party could never understand; nor could they ever understand the protest of the party leaders against coercion, the declaration of these leaders in favor of State Sovereignty; their assertions that the traitors could never be conquered, and they were struck dumb with amazement when they learned that their candidate, Gen. McClelland, was cheered vociferously all along the rebel liner. But they need doubt no longer. The course of their leaders have been fully exposed by E. A. POLLARD in his History of the rebellion, written from a Southern stand-point. POLLARD'S history of the war has, up to this time, been the only work of the kind that MEEK and others like him, would place any confidence in. Thus far they have adhered to POLLARD. Let them not desert him now, when he corroborates all the charges against the Democrats of aiding and abetting the rebellion. Honest Democrats, read the following paragraph which we copy from POLLARD, and then tell us, if you can, why you adhere to such a disloyal and treacherous party:

"Scarcely any Northern man of any political persuasion outside of fanaticism, doubted that if Johnson defeated Sherman, or that if he even held his own—in short, that if the South accomplished mere negative results, in holding Richmond and Atlanta—the peace party, which was at this time the whole Democratic party, would come into power, turn the war into a Convention of States and decide there the claims of the South, which it was a foregone conclusion and a logical necessity could not be less than independence. Mr. Davis could not fail to perceive the significance of the Chicago Convention, and was certainly intelligent enough to understand the condition of parties in the North. He had private correspondents in that convention. Indeed it is well known that during the entire war, Mr. Davis maintained secret communication with many distinguished Northern politicians, generally those of the Democratic party. The letters and documents he received from them were so numerous that they were kept in a special, private archive, entitled the Presidential Bureau of correspondence. These confidences were kept from Congress, and even from his Cabinet; few persons in Richmond ever knew of the existence of such a bureau; no curiosity hunter was ever admitted to its papers: and so anxious was Mr. Davis to conceal them that it is a curious fact that, some days before the surrender of Richmond, he had them conveyed to a secret place, where they are yet supposed to be safely deposited. In this "underground correspondence," Mr. Davis had been well informed of the Chicago Convention; that it meant peace for the North and independence for the South," as a distinguished gentleman of New England wrote him, and that all there was of doubt of the success of the Chicago nominees depended on the success of his own administration at Richmond."

THE Bucks county Intelligencer, after naming Cass, Hancock and McCandles, as candidates before the Pennsylvania Democratic Convention for the gubernatorial nomination says: "Cass was supported by the Pennsylvania railroad influence, and by the western counties generally. He would have made a formidable candidate at the polls. General Hancock was evidently the choice of the masses of the party, who felt that his military record would be a great source of strength. Hancock would have got some Republican votes, and would have given Geary a great deal of trouble. But the party managers stepped over both of these and took up Packer, the very man that the Republicans wanted to see on the ticket."

SAYS the Chicago Post: The nomination of Rosecrans for Governor of Ohio is a regular wet blanket on the Democracy. Poor Sam Cary is mad; Vallandigham is mad; Pendleton is mad; and everything is unlovely all around. Old Pap. Thomas being off on the Pacific coast, with no intention of returning, little Rosey will have to take the soundest thrashing he ever got in his life, next October, with nobody to save him from complete annihilation. Rosey always gets whipped on the first day, and the first day is all there is of an Ohio election.

LATELY, amid the plaudits of the Democracy of the whole country, Senator Sprague proclaimed the aphorism that nothing is more cowardly or mean than a million of dollars—except two million. If this be Democratic doctrine, what shall we say of the Democratic taste in selecting a twenty-million candidate and choosing him for that reason?

"GRANDFATHERS' STOVE."
Our grandfather's stove, what a fun y old thing,
So deep, so wide and so tall;
Now the people would say, who are stylish and gay,
"It was only a hole in the wall."

It matters not what, it was pleasant to see
When night's mantle was flung over all;
Grandfather take down his good book and read
By the light from the hole in the wall.

As the sturdy young men rolled in the great logs,
They would laugh at each wintry squall,
Whilst grandma would sit on her old chair and knit
By the light from the whole in the wall.

The girls then wore home spun, and so did their beaux's,
For pride was a principle small;
And courting was done and hearts have been won
By the light from the hole in the wall.

The neighbors were friendly wherever they'd meet,
With a word of true kindness for all;
And joy was complete to hear voices so sweet
Ring round that old hole in the wall.

In those days we know, folks cared not for show,
Of improvements knew nothing at all;
But 'twas really no joke, when great clouds of smoke
Rushed out from the hole in the wall.

But those days are now o'er, we shall know them no more,
And all those old fashions have flown;
Whilst the solemn and gay are coming each day
To purchase the famous "OLD HOME."

Coming not only in couples, but in scores, as hundreds of good and wise men and women have done before, to look upon this magnificent stove, which is acknowledged to be the best cooking stove of the age. Remember the place,

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, Aug. 4, 1869.

JOB WORK.—Posters, Circulars, Bill Heads, Cards, Paper Books, Job Work of all kinds, neatly executed at the REPUBLICAN OFFICE, at reasonable rates.

FOR SALE.—Mrs. McBride offers a splendid building lot for sale on Bishop street. No prettier locality in town for a residence.

THE Lutheran Church of Pleasant Gap will be dedicated to the service of Almighty God on next Sabbath a week, the 15th inst. The public are respectfully invited to attend.

SAVE MONEY.—If you want posters, circulars, bill heads, cards, paper-books, first-class job work, plain or fancy, call at the REPUBLICAN office. All work done at Philadelphia prices.

READ.—We invite our friends to read all the new advertisements in our paper. Before making a purchase, be sure that the merchant advertises in the REPUBLICAN. In this way you will save money.

CREDIT.—Edward Brown deserves great credit for the manner in which he is pushing to completion his large frame building on the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets. It will be an ornament to that corner, and, we hope, a source of profit to its enterprising owner.

BELLEFONTE AND PINE GROVE STAGE LINE.—Leave Pine Grove at 6:00 a. m., arrive at Bellefonte at 10:00 a. m.; leave Bellefonte at 2:00 p. m., for Agricultural College and Pine Grove Mills, daily, except Sunday.

JAMES KREPS,
Proprietor.

ACCIDENT.—A son of Mr. Hepbern Welsh, near Mill Hall, Clinton county, a lad of 12 years, had his foot badly lacerated by being caught in the reaper knives. Although cut through the boney part of the foot, just below the ancle joint, his Physician, Dr. McMicken, thinks it can be healed without amputation. Another warning to farmers.

JEWELRY.—It is with pleasure we direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of J. H. Hahn, watchmaker and jeweler, in another column of the REPUBLICAN. Mr. Hahn is a first class workman, a young man of great energy, polite and accommodating. Both ladies and gentlemen will find it greatly to their interest to give him a call before purchasing elsewhere.

SODA WATER.—This hot weather, people, from necessity, become very thirsty. It has been demonstrated that whiskey does not allay, but increases thirst.—Water of itself, is preferable to whiskey with most people; but it is thought, by the majority in Bellefonte that, with plenty of Frank Green's Soda water, both water and whiskey might be dispensed with. Frank has a beautiful fountain.

NEW DRUG STORE.—The firm of Zeller & Jarrett, Bishop street, Bellefonte, Pa., have now got their new and splendid drug store in complete working order. They have everything usually kept by druggists, and we must say that their store is beautiful, and hard to beat, out side the city. Messrs Zeller & Jarrett are excellent men, and their clerks are very accommodating and genteel.

FARM FOR SALE.—Persons desiring to purchase a first rate farm, should call at, once, at the REPUBLICAN office, or upon Bond Valentine, Esq. This farm contains about 195 acres, forty acres of which are meadow. The buildings—house, barn and out-buildings—are all the very best. It is located about 1½ miles from Bellefonte. There is a great bargain in this farm. Farmers desiring a first class farm, should call and see it. Terms easy.

WHEN purchasing that necessary bit of pasteboard, called a railroad ticket, recently, at Mill Hall station, B. E. V. Railroad, we were surprised to find the office occupied by our pleasant friend, Mr. J. H. Stover, vice W. D. McCormick, resigned. Although "Mack's" pleasant face will be met with there no more, yet his many friends will be glad to hear of his transfer to an Altoona office, in lieu of his presence there, they will find our friend John H. a pleasant successor.

FACT.—Proof of "hard times," in the shape of about two hundred new houses, brick and frame, being erected this summer, can be seen in every portion of our flourishing and prosperous little city.—Even the contemptible liar of the Watchman is putting up a new brick three-story building. If he did not belong to the "pinchers" and "roosters" of the last Legislature, where did he get the money? If he is an honest man, why is Jim Burns so anxious to have him go back "dree dimes?"

SPECIAL attention is called to the advertisement of that celebrated Specialist, Q. Van Hummell, M. D., of New York City, who treats throat and lung disease by inhalation—the only acknowledged cure for consumption. He uses Abbott's Inhaling Fluid, a remedy not known to the profession. Thousands have been snatched from the jaws of death by this wonderful remedy, and those afflicted should not hesitate to immediately place themselves under the Doctor's care.

NITTANY, July 30, 1869.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—In the list of candidates published in your paper of the 28th inst., I see my name submitted to the Republican County Convention as a candidate for the office of Recorder.—This announcement has been made without my consent; and, while duly grateful to my friends for their kindness, I must respectfully decline the use of my name in connection with that position. You will, therefore, please omit my name in your list of candidates in the next issue of the REPUBLICAN.

W. W. ROGERS.

DR. R. D. TIPPLE has moved his office from the Conrad House, to his residence (the First National Bank building) on Allegheny street, formerly occupied by John P. Harris, Cashier of First National Bank, where he can be found when not absent in the performance of his professional duties.

NOW FOR A CITY.—When the heavy men—the real men of wealth commence building, you can expect, and that with good reason, to see Bellefonte spread herself like a green bay-tree. Edward Humes, President of the First National Bank—to say nothing of the fine addition erected to his dwelling, and the beautiful fence in front—has now under way four large houses on Lamb street. It is his intention to erect houses on all his vacant lots. The number of lots owned by him is said to be one hundred.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY is warranted to cure Catarrh in its worst forms and stages. The most painful cases are speedily relieved by it, and stoppages, offensive discharges, and tainted breath all yield to its wonderful curative powers. "Cold in the head," dizziness and thin watery dicharges are removed, the head cleared, the air passages opened, and relief and comfort afforded by its use. It contains no strong irritating, poisonous or caustic drugs. Sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by most Druggists everywhere.

THE song of the reaper is hushed.—Harvest is over. Fields that lately smiled in their cerial wealth, have yielded that wealth to the garner, and are thrown open to pasture. A heavy crop has been garnered, but with much labor, for we hear much of fallen and lodged grain, the result of storms preceding harvest. Many individual farmers boast of heavy yields from particular fields, but we think our friend, Mr. Isaiah Struble, near Zion, can lead the van in this respect. He cut 432 dozen of wheat off nine acres, or 48 dozen to the acre, on an average. Considering the fact that his sheaves were as large as the largest, we think he is ahead. If anybody can beat it, we will publish him.

HAVING been prevailed upon by quite a number of Republicans to allow myself to be presented for favorable consideration in connection with the nomination for Sheriff of Centre county—and feeling disinclined, lest, by so doing, I should interfere with other, and better men, in our party, has led me to resist their importunities up to this date. The renewed pressure brought to bear upon me, I yield to now, yet reluctantly, for the reason stated, and wish to say that if, without boring for votes, sufficient voluntary Delegates will support the wishes of my friends on the first ballot to justify a second, I will be satisfied, even if the nomination should finally fall upon either of my friends, Courter or Butts. If nominated, I shall endeavor to be elected; if any other gentleman is nominated, I shall do all that one individual can do for him, and the entire ticket, the same as though I were still publishing the old Central Press. JNO. G. KURTZ.

Bellefonte, Aug. 2, 1869.

CAN'T AFFORD IT.—The Erie Republican has seen the man who couldn't afford to take a paper. It gives the history as follows. He has his counterpart in this county:

There are men who don't take a daily paper, because they "can't afford it;" they are too poor; they require all their money to keep up their family expenses "these hard times." We met one of these the other day, and we said to him he ought to have the Republican. "Well, really," said he, "I would if I could afford it. Would like to oblige you; but things are so confounded tight just now that it is hard to make both ends meet." We did not press the matter upon our "hard up" friend, but knowing his habits, we made the following calculation, based on that knowledge. Two glasses of ale a day, at ten cents, seventy-three dollars; three cigars, one after each meal, one hundred and nine dollars and fifty cents; board for a big dog, thirty dollars—all in one year, two hundred and twelve dollars and fifty cents—sufficient to buy six barrels of flour, one barrel of sugar, one sack of coffee, a good coat, a respectable dress, a frock for the baby, and half a dozen pairs of shoes, and all the daily papers in the city, to say nothing about magazines, books, &c. You see the point—the man couldn't afford it, and there are thousands just like him for the same reason.

For the Republican

CORNERSTONE LAYING AT JACKSONVILLE, PA.—The Evangelical Association is erecting a church edifice at Jacksonville, 36x46 feet, to be surmounted with a spire 35 feet high. The church is to be neatly finished, well painted, and a handsome portico in front. The cornerstone of this building was laid on the 18th inst., with the usual religious ceremonies. Rev. Hornberger, of the Clinton Circuit, preached an interesting and edifying sermon in the Presbyterian church, to a large audience, from the words, "Jerusalem is the mother of us all." Rev. Taner, of Rebersburg, after the sermon, made an earnest appeal to the congregation to procure the necessary means yet required to continue and complete the building. A response, in the shape of subscription, and cash, was given—though not as liberal as might have been—making, in all, twelve hundred dollars. The audience then marched, in regular order, to the foundation of the new building, when Rev. Smith, Pastor in charge, performed the ceremonies of the cornerstone laying. Rev's Samuel Zenck, of Brushvalley, and Isaac Trane, of Nittany, were also present.—The occasion was one of deep interest, and will not soon be forgotten by the good people of Jacksonville. May the spirit of moving forward with the building continue until it is completed and consecrated to the Triune God, and be, in reality, "the House of God, and the Gate of Heaven." S. B.

Howard, July 27, '69.

Rev. P. Sahm, of Aaronsburg, was made a D. D. at the last commencement of Pennsylvania College.

GARMAN'S NEW HOTEL.—Among the many useful and ornamental new buildings that have recently been erected in our thriving young city, none excel, in beauty of design and finish, the new four-story brick building erected by Daniel Garman, the affable Host of the "Garman House." The lower story is designed for offices and store rooms, and the upper stories for the accommodation of his guests. The carpenter work was done by that master mechanic, Mr. Bartlet, in his best style. The painting was done by Mr. Dunham, which is a master-piece of workmanship, and which places Mr. D. at the head of the decorative art. We have known Mr. Dunham for many years, and everything he undertakes to do, is always well done, and exactly according to contract. Mr. Garman is one of our most enterprising citizens, and is entitled to great credit for the many substantial improvements he has made in his locality. Long may he wave.

DODD'S
NERVINE
DID IT.

NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED FRIEND—I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entere recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not be without it on any account. Very truly, jy21'69 4w. MRS. I. S. NUTE.

BE CAREFUL
WHAT MEDICINES
YOU TAKE.

When you are exhausted by over-work of head or hand, and feel the need of something invigorating, don't drink whiskey nor any intoxicating thing, whether under the name strength to your weary body and mind as the whip gives to the jaded horse, and no more. Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to Nerve-health, and are ALWAYS followed by DEPRESSING REACTION.

DODD'S NERVINE & INVIGORATOR
is a TONIC and GENTLE STIMULANT which is NOT attended by REACTION. What it gains for you it maintains. When it refreshes body or mind, it refreshes with natural strenght that come to stay. We are not recommending tetotalism in the interest of any faction; but long and extended observation teaches us that he who resorts to the bottle for rest or recuperation, will find, as he keeps at it, that he is kindling a fire in his bones which will consume like the flames of perdition. Turn from it. Take a tonic that will rerresh and not destroy. Dodd's Nervine is for sale by all Druggists. Price One Dollar. See book of Certificates that accompanies each bottle.

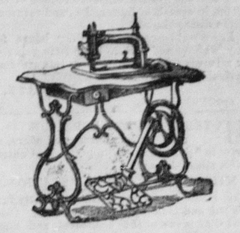
SEWING MACHINES.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE
OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.
MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.



In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.
It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.
The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.
Lessons may be taken if desired with a view to test the Machine, or to become better acquainted with it before deciding to purchase. Samples of work will be furnished upon application at

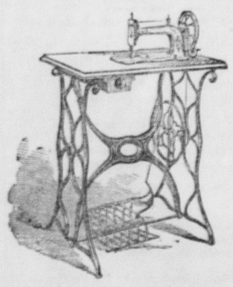
SEWING MACHINE.
THE SINGER SEWING MACHINE.



Among sewing machines, those made by the Singer Manufacturing Company, rank with the highest. Their manufacturing machines, have long been known as the best for manufacturing purposes. But within the past few years, they have given special attention to the production of a

The machine which they now offer is quiet, light-running, simple, fast, noiseless. Its accessories for

They urge those wishing to purchase a machine, to examine all the other manufactures before buying, as it will, for itself, overcome all the objections to the other machines that can be brought against it. WEDNESDAY MORNING Aug. 4, '69,

Bottling Fruit.

The question is often asked, "What kind of bottles do you use?"—I reply, any and all kinds, from a common long-necked bottle for green currants, gooseberries, and rhubarb, to pickle jars for strawberries and raspberries, up to the glass, wide-mouthed, self-sealing, patented fruit jars, which I reserve for plums, pears, and peaches, or any kind of fruit which is desirable to preserve in an unbroken state. These narrow mouthed bottles may be sealed very nicely and effectively in the following way: Procure some pieces of new cotton cloth large enough for the purpose; then melt together an ounce of mutton tallow and a pound of rosin; a little beeswax would be an improvement. Have it melted and mixed, and standing on the back of the stove, ready when you wish to use it. After the boiling fruit has been successfully introduced into the bottle, and while in this heated state, put in the cork, if you have one, or if not, a wooden plug will answer. Take one of the pieces of cloth and tie it with a stout string over the bottle; then cover entirely, rim and all, with the warm rosin. It would be as well to put another cloth over this, and, perhaps, more rosin; it must be airtight. If I were to get a fresh supply of bottles, I would choose a kind of which would move or slip up if subjected to pressure from within, as would be the case if fermentation of the contents occurred. I never have had such an accident happen me but I have been assured that where lids are made to screw tightly on the bottle and the fruit fermented, the bottle would burst before the lid would yield. Learners in the art would do well to confine their first efforts to bottles with corks, using wax to make the air tight.—American Agriculturist.

The Influence of Sun-Heat on Fruits.

Never was there a greater mistake made than that of supposing that fruit, produced in the shade, has the best flavor: it is a false notion, the mere chimera of half a century ago. The Black Hamburg Grape is, to some extent, an exception; for its berries will not color if the branches are deprived of too many of their leaves, so as to let the sun in amongst the bunches too freely. Whereas the Muscat of Alexandria will not attain its rich amber color if so much overcrowded with leaves as to keep the rays of the sun from penetrating freely amongst the branches. A pine-apple produced in the winter has not the flavor of one ripened in the summer months of the year, when the sun is powerful. Again, under the old method of planting strawberries in beds 4 feet wide, the fruit is not to be compared, either in size or flavor, with that of those planted out in single rows. Now, what is the reason of this? I contend that it is in consequence of the action of the sun upon the fruit. The fruit shaded by leaves will always be more or less insipid and worthless, as compared with that on which the sun has full play. It is the sun that puts flavor into our fruits.

LIME AS A PRESERVER.—Air slacked lime has been frequently recommended as a preserver for vegetables when stored in cellars or pits. Recently we heard a gentleman state that he was in the habit of spinkling it among his apples in barrels and bins, and he thought delicate fall varieties could thus be kept much beyond their season. The lime dust could be easily removed from the apples by using a cloth or brush, and it imparted no flavor to the fruit. The use of lime in the cellar, as a preservative agent is a good idea. It acts by absorbing moisture, and if one individual in the mass decays, the lime arrests the spread of the disease to others. It is well to hint to our readers that cellars should be overhauled at this season, and all decaying matter removed; the "sweating" stage with stored vegetables is over, and specimens most prone to rot have developed disease. Sort these out, sprinkle some lime on the remainder, and purify your cellar from dangerous auxiliaries of disease.

PAINT FARM IMPLEMENTS.—Nothing improves the looks of farm implements that have been weather-beaten or partially worn, more than a coat of paint. It gives them an appearance of newness not obtained by any other process: it also adds to the durability of woodwork, such as horse rakes plow-handles, &c. Blue paint is the favorite color; it is more durable than either brown or red, looks better, and is nearly as cheap. All iron should be painted black, thus contrasting the two materials at the first glance. Knees and runners of sleds should be painted every spring, previous to storing away, the crust of snow will quickly wear off paint from parts above mentioned.

This subject could be enlarged upon, but it is unnecessary as all understand the benefit derived from keeping tools, etc., well painted.

WEAK EYES IN HORSES.—Make up a wash of alum and water which reduce to blood heat, and with a quill blow the liquid into the eye. After trying the above preparation three times, take a peice of alum as large as the end of one's finger, and, burning it in the fire, reduce it to a powder, and blow it stoutly by the same process into the eye. We have tried burnt alum on a number of horses that have had sore eyes, and always found it a valuable remedy. It will remove all scum and restore clearness to the eyes.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.
GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.
Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.
The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.
The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.
No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.
CHORUS, for the end of each verse:
The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.
Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.
People who travel by other routes, and all so people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.
Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality,

All manner of work such as Scroll Sawing, Moulding, Brackets, &c., &c made after any desired pattern.
ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.
This company is composed of practicable mechanics, and Samuel Adams, one of the Co., has been foreman of the Bellefonte Planing Mill since its commencement.
Connected with the mill, and in operation at all times, is one of the latest improved
COKE DRYING KILNS;
which leaves the lumber in a perfectly healthy state, assists in preserving it, and in fact adds to its lasting qualities, while other methods of drying deteriorate, and renders it more liable
TO DECAY AND WASTE.
Lumber dried in a Coke kiln, is dried perfectly, and when worked and put up, will not SHRIVEL AND SHRINK,
thus giving buildings the appearance of having been erected out of Green Material
We know that our facilities give us every advantage over other
PLANING MILLS IN THIS SECTION and we feel perfectly free in saying, that all our WORK WILL BE GUARANTEED, to be of
A SUPERIOR QUALITY.
We will furnish anything in our line from a door panel, to a WHOLE HOUSE,
and at such prices, as cannot but prove to be an inducement to THOSE DESIRING TO BUILD.
All orders promptly filled and a fair share of public patronage, respectfully solicited.
